

Languish? Dormant? Fallow? Ponderings: Spring issue of HSP Highlights & Insights

Dear HSPs,

Hello, and happy spring to those of you living in the Western hemisphere, where it seems any semblance of those usual carefree, light-filled, joyful experiences that accompany Spring have been very slow in coming, at least here in Colorado where snow in May is not unusual. Perhaps this is what, in part, inspired my article: Languish, Dormant, Fallow?

Here is the link to the Spring 2021 issue of my newsletter, HSP Highlights & Insights:

<http://www.lifeworkshelp.com/HSP-Newsletter/spring-2021-hsp-highlights-insights/>

Insights:

Languish, Dormant, Fallow?

<http://www.lifeworkshelp.com/HSP-Newsletter/languish-dormant-or-fallow-for-me-its-been-all-three/>

Highlights:

Two Colorado HSP Retreats in Ft. Collins Colorado :

June 14-17, 2021 with an optional Nature as Teacher & Healer Day, Thursday, June 17

September 27-29, with an optional Nature as Teacher & Healer Day, Thursday, September 30

<http://www.lifeworkshelp.com/HSP-Newsletter/welcome-to-the-3rd-colorado-hsp-retreat-june-14-15-16-2021-ft-collins-colorado/>

Spring Session of my Myers Briggs & HSP Overlay class coming up soon: May 22 and May 29.

I am so appreciative of the latest testimony shared from Jessica in Texas about her one-on-one Myers Briggs/HSP Overlay experience shared here:

<http://www.lifeworkshelp.com/HSP-Newsletter/spring-2021-myers-briggs-hsp-overlay-workshop/>

Depending upon where you live, wishing you the joys of Spring or many HSP Interludes of Happiness moments which are mentioned and explained in my article: Languish, Dormant, Fallow.

with care,
Jacquelyn