Teaching Reiki: How To Run A "Reiki Share"

Hi, Taggart here, from Reiki Evolution. Right, this week is all about the nitty-gritty of organising events to help and support your students and it will be a bonus week because I will be sharing three articles instead of the usual two!

If you haven't been to one, a "Reiki share" is an event, often run in an evening, where a number of Reiki people (of any Reiki level) get together to share Reiki with each other, all taking turns on the treatment table(s) and being treated by more than one person at the same time. This is an incredible experience and can be quite addictive!

Anyone can set up and host a Reiki share. Did you know that? You don't have to be a Reiki teacher to do it: you could be at First Degree or Second Degree, because it's a sharing event, not a teaching event. Though if you are a Reiki teacher, there are a few things that you can do to make the occasion even more special, and I talk about that in my articles.

Anyway, there are two articles to read today, and then on Saturday I will be talking about "Reiki Practice Days" and what they are all about.

You can read my Reiki Share advice by clicking the links below:

I hope you find these articles interesting and helpful.

Best wishes,

Taggart :)
